Title

Mona Vale Clubhouse
Architectural Redesign

Area of Design

Architecture

The aim was to design, develop and evaluate a restructured architectural interpretation of the Mona Vale Golf Clubhouse.

Key attributes in the design were to decrease its running costs, reduce its reliance on non-renewable energy, and increase its member capacity.

The new clubhouse would include more facilities that should attract more interest in memberships. Without sacrificing its functional and aesthetic value, the design needed to include innovative and sustainable technology sources to decrease its environmental footprint and work towards the ultimate goal of self-sufficiency.
